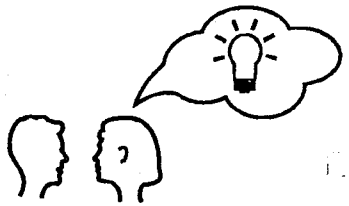
NEGOTIATED RULEMAKING TO DEVELOP WORKER SAFETY STANDARDS FOR THE USE OF CRANES & DERRICKS IN CONSTRUCTION (29 CFR 1926.550 SUBPART N)
OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY & HEALTH ADMINISTRATION, U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

NEGOTIATIONS: ELEVEN MEETINGS



Facilitator interviews members of Cranes & Derricks Negotiated Rulemaking Advisory Committee (C-DAC)

PRELIMINARY MEETING

Ground Rules, Agenda of Issues, Schedule, Interests/Concerns of Stakeholders

C-DAC Members discuss issues to develop agreements in concept.

- Tentative agreements are reached on easy issues; moderate issues may be resolved, difficult issues are discussed and then tabled.
- Discuss again unresolved issues; tentative agreements are reached on moderate issues, difficult issues are identified.
- Discussions focus on tough issues. Committee begins to develop packages on remaining issues. Packages allow tradeoffs on issues valued differently.
- Final outstanding items are known. Ongoing communications occur between meetings. If process is to be successful, the final consensus NPRM must contain some important elements for everyone; final packaging is attempted.

OSHA provides draft regulatory language reflecting agreements in concept; C-DAC reviews, deliberates, negotiates, reaches consensus.
