

No age 60 change! It's always worked. Do you want to get on your next flight on a 747 and see your great-grandfather at the controls, assisted by your neighbor's grandfather as copilot??? When's the last time you drove around in Miami????

If you allow these few greedy over-60s to get this through (after enjoying their max earning power over the years as captains retired out of their way), you can expect commuter airline crashes to increase dramatically as disillusioned young pilots decide they have to get a real job to support their families, instead of waiting another 3 to 5 years for the big airline job. Desperate commuter management will hire anyone off the street with any kind of license.

Don't change age 60!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
