

If the FAA is interested in reducing flight delays consideration should be given to re-defining cabotage identified in the Jones Act, to include US Domestic Code Shares. The Market-Based Approaches to Reduce Flight Delays requires special rate consideration. Air Travel Rates are already over-burdened with complexity and air carriers have developed a rating system to allow passengers to travel on off-peak flights.