

Congress has passed legislation allowing commercial airline pilots to be armed as a means of protection against terrorists on board their aircraft. I believe the concept is a good one.