

The decision to carry firearms should be left up to the people most directly responsible for passenger safety -- the airlines and the pilots.