Subject Waiver denial is an outrage.

Administrator Stephen Johnson

Dear Administrator Johnson,

Congratulations on becoming the laughing stock of the environmental movement. You are, indeed, leaving an embarrassing legacy.

I am profoundly disappointed in your decision to deny California's waiver request to cut global warming pollution from automobiles. It's an outrage.

This decision is not based on science or the law. Indeed, the science tells us we must take urgent action to dramatically cut our global warming pollution or face potentially catastrophic consequences.

In April, the Supreme Court gave EPA full legal authority to not only grant this waiver but to take global warming a lot more seriously than your agency has to date.

In the last 40 years, EPA has granted all 50 previous waiver requests by states to clean up air pollution. Your decision demonstrates a blind eye to the urgent threat of global warming.

I am deeply troubled by your decision and will do everything I can to support efforts to overturn it.

Sincerely,
Earl Morse
